It seems these days that you're duty bound to release a vinyl package with something extra attached. In the case of Apparel Music, that means running a competition for 20 artists to design a package to accompany this release.

Tetelepta and Gerressen's opening salvo, "Just Because," is rollicking, pitched-up dub house with a jabbering synth winding its way across it. The more accomplished "Time" throws a post-punk guitar lick across an abruptly cut-off live bass riff. On the other side, Emerson Todd throws in some sharp snares and druggy, reverb-laden synths on "Slow Hand." The EP's other tracks are overshadowed by "The Freeze," which knits together a mixture of military drums, summery analogue pads, a dose of acid, Rhodes piano and a large helping of gravelly bass into a sparkling deep house track.
